

North Surprise West—Norwood Spoil Chances of Sturt Reaching Finals

REDLEGS LAST BETTER

Unley Men Lacking in Condition

INJURY TO MATTNER HINDERS DOUBLE-BLUES

(By O. J. O'Grady, "The Mail" Football Writer

Sturt may attribute their defeat today to their lack of condition. For three terms the double-blues appeared to have the upper hand, but toward the finish they faded from the picture.

Norwood had nearly all the play in the final term, but erratic forward play nullified their superiority.

Sturt played their best football in the third quarter, and it was unfortunate for them that for the greater part of the term Mattner was off the ground, suffering from a knee injury.

The defeat of Sturt today has greatly minimized the chances of the double-blues qualifying for the finals.

On the other hand Norwood did not add to their premiership prospects. Once again it was evident that the redlegs are weak in front of goal. In today's game Krome and Mitchell, the spelling ruckmen, alternated as goalkneak. Krome marked well but kicked poorly, only two goals coming from nine scoring shots.

TORRENS SUCCEED

Fast Game at Adelaide

SIX GOALS TO OWENS

Torrens won their match with Glenelg at Adelaide Oval in the third quarter, when they turned a deficit of six points into an advantage of 26 points. They failed to score in the last quarter, but succeeded in holding their opponents.

By winning today Torrens registered their fifth successive victory.

On each of the previous occasions the seaiders were successful, and the westerners were anxious to turn the tables today.

F. Olliver, the Glenelg goalkeeper, was absent owing to tonsillitis, and C. Prince appeared for the first time in league football. Torrens were as published. Mr. S. A. D. Hill had charge of the game. A fresh breeze blew across the oval.

Lloyd won the toss, and decided to kick toward the northern end. Torrens were first away, and Fleet sent the ball well in. Johnston marked safely, but followed up with a bad kick. Wiese cleared twice, and a free to C. Hill enabled Glenelg to stage a breakaway. Hocking and Osborn defended strongly, but the seaiders were not to be denied, and a chain of marks by Johnston, Symons, and Owens was followed by a goal from the lastnamed.

Torrens made a determined onslaught, and after King had frustrated one attack Troughton marked within easy distance, and goaled with a high punt. The westerners returned to the attack, and this time their efforts culminated in full points from Lampe. Osborn stemmed a Glenelg advance, but Johnston sent the ball back, and a long shot by Owens narrowly missed the big opening. Lock placed Head in possession, and a long shot bounced through the goalposts. Johnston was marking brilliantly. Receiving from him at an acute angle near the goal, Owens kicked truly.

Torrens responded with a goal from Troughton. Barbary sent the ball well in, only to see Lock mark safely and return it. Troughton had another shot, but this time only a behind came. Then Hocking scored a goal. Clever play by Symons gave Owens a chance, and he made the most of it. Handby frustrated a Torrens advance.

First Quarter

TORRENS	5-3
GLENELG	3-1

Troughton sent the ball in, and Lampe scored a behind. Broderick secured at centre, and sent to Troughton, whose long shot brought a goal. Hine saved, and the ball rushed to the other end, where Bastian secured and goaled. Good work by Coleman sent Glenelg forward, and full points came from Sallis. Two additional goals were recorded in rapid succession by Owens, who was scouting and marking well.

Dashing play by Griffiths broke a Torrens attack. Fleet tried wildly to get his boot to the ball, which rolled through the goals off the hands of a Torrens player, but failed. Handby made a spectacular run down the field, and Link, securing the ball, dashed in and goaled. Broderick initiated a Torrens move, and after thrilling play in the goalmouth Bastian recorded the maximum with a difficult angle shot.

Symons unselfishly passed the ball to Owens, who kicked his sixth goal for the day. Then C. Hill put Glenelg four points in front with another. Torrens defenders were fighting valiantly, but the seaiders were momentarily overwhelming them. Troughton and Hocking at last got the ball away, only to see Griffiths send it back. Play centred round mid field for a time, and Torrens were attacking as the bell rang.

Second Quarter

GLENELG	9-4
TORRENS	8-4

Glenelg were first to assume the offensive, and after Ward had twice driven them out a single was rushed. Players of both teams were putting in with a will, and weight was being used freely. Osborn and Hine defended well. Lock was penalised for apparently interfering with Owens, but the decision met with strong disapproval from spectators in the vicinity.

Play was transferred to the other end, where goals were recorded in rapid succession by Troughton, Sinecock, and Lampe. C. Hill gave Glenelg a chance, Sallis kicked across the goals, and in a flash the ball was carried to the other end, where Lampe marked in a crush and goaled. Wiese and C. Hill took the ball to the goalmouth, where Ward proved safe in defence.

In Torrens' forward lines Bastian was limping badly. Troughton increased the advantage of the westerners by a goal. The blue-and-golds were playing with great dash, and seemed intent on establishing a useful lead. Troughton kicked to an open goal, but the ball fell short, and bounced through the behind posts.

Torrens had amassed 33 points to one point scored by Glenelg during the quarter. They had a good grip on the game, and seemed likely to break their series of defeats by the seaiders.

Third Quarter

TORRENS	13-7
GLENELG	8-6

Play centred round midfield for several minutes, with Glenelg slightly in the ascendant. A single came from Symons, and then Guiney called up both flags. Head took a lucky mark from Hocking, and for a moment things looked dangerous. Handby cleared with a determined rush.

Glenelg supporters roared with delight, as Rosewarne goaled. Guiney rushed down the field but was going too fast to kick accurately, and the ball fell into the hands of Osborn. Johnston marked well in a bunch, only to spoil his work by a poor kick.

A single came from Guiney. Glenelg were battling hard to reduce their deficit. Sallis had a shot that went out of bounds. Glenelg were pressing the attack, and only eight players remained on the other half of the field. When Torrens broke away Wiese marked and drove them out. Troughton kicked across the goalmouth.

Play was congested, and scrimmages were now the order of the day. Torrens were attacking, but could not score. Lampe predominated in the air. The bell rang with Torrens having failed to score in the quarter, but they achieved their object in preventing Glenelg from overtaking their lead.

"ABOVE BOARD"

Sexton's Resignation

FOOTBALLER INDIGNANT

"For Mr. Rugless to insinuate that factors other than the payment for loss of time are concerned in my resignation casts a reflection upon me."

Thus declared J. Sexton, the former Glenelg footballer, when invited to comment upon a statement made by Mr. E. A. Rugless, secretary of Glenelg Football Club during the week.

Mr. Rugless was reported to have said, "Knowing all the facts of the case, I think that the committee should be highly commended for its action in accepting the resignation of J. Sexton."

Sexton takes keen exception to these remarks. "My connection with the Glenelg Football Club has been above board," he said. "I challenge Mr. Rugless to disclose these 'full facts' that he has sought to shelter behind. I think that Mr. Rugless has found it difficult to refute the charge of poor management made against the Glenelg committee in 'The Mail' last Saturday.

"I challenge Mr. Rugless to come out into the open and discuss any factors connected with my resignation other than the payment for time lost from my employment.

"I wish to repeat that when the Glenelg committee arrived at the decision which resulted in my resignation, there were three members of the committee absent. In accepting my resignation the committee had no choice. I clearly indicated that under no circumstances would I reconsider it."

Mr. Rugless was invited by 'The Mail' to make clear the purport of his remarks, but he declined to make any further statement.

Following the publication in 'The Mail' last Saturday of a statement made by a league official, taking the Glenelg committee to task for the Sexton affair, Mr. Rugless brought the matter up at a meeting of the South Australian National Football League on Monday.

According to a report which appeared in 'The News,' Mr. Rugless said:—"The article was misleading, as it was supposed to have come from a league official. I want to ask each delegate if he contributed any information to 'The Mail' on the subject. I do not think for one minute that any delegate would rush into print and criticise another club. It is, I think a reflection on this league."

The report added, "On receiving the assurance of delegates and of Mr. F. Marlow secretary, that they had not been concerned in the matter, Mr. Rugless said that he would put forward a motion later in the evening. However, up to the time that the league went into committee, no motion was submitted."

An impression has gained ground that some sort of motion against 'The Mail' was adopted by the league in committee. This, however, is not so, and it is learned that Mr. Rugless' proposed motion, whatever it might have been, was never submitted. The statement by Mr. Rugless that the article in 'The Mail' was misleading is without foundation, for the criticism of the Glenelg team was made by a league official, as stated by 'The Mail.'

Also this criticism was referred to Mr. Rugless before its publication, but he declined to comment upon it.

CLOSE-UPS OF PLAYERS

J. Handby played a fine game for Glenelg, getting into the fray with great determination. He cleared many dangerous situations with his typical rushes down the field.

P. Broderick, of Torrens, and R. Coleman, of Glenelg, provided an interesting tussle at centre in the match at Adelaide Oval. Both did much effective work, the Glenelg man being slightly superior on the day.

W. Hill played one of his best games for the season for Glenelg today. He was prominent in the air, and his ground play was marked by determination. Whether following or placed he was continually in the limelight.

L. Griffiths, who fills a back pocket for Glenelg, is a tenacious player, who never admits defeat. His excellent judgement in backing up his team-mates is one of the features of his play. In the match with Torrens today he repeatedly cleared dangerous attacks.
