Injured Panthers show inner steel

JAI BEDNALL

IF South Adelaide ever becomes a SANFL powerhouse under Ron Fuller, this will be the game that is remembered as the turning point.

The Panthers were down to 17 fit men at three-quarter-time at the Bay yesterday and were facing an opponent in Glenelg that was fighting for a finals position.

The Tigers led by seven points with a quarter to go and, given South's injuries, were a real chance to kick away and gain the percentage they needed to challenge the Eagles for fifth spot.

But the Panthers didn't read the script, kicking eight goals to four in an amazing turnaround to record their most inspiring victory of the Fuller era.

"They dug deep, the boys – I couldn't be prouder of how they went about it," Fuller said.

"I think the players can understand if they keep digging deep, anything can happen."

Glenelg led for most of the match, pulling away at the beginning of each of the first three quarters only to see the Panthers fight their way back.

Peter Rolfe was the main reason South was still in the game midway through the third quarter – his six goals more than half of his side's tally.

But when he joined Tarquin Brown on the interchange bench with a shoulder injury, Tim Houlihan was stretchered off with concussion soon after, and then Nick Liddle hurt his ankle, the Panthers looked shot.

But Keegan Brooksby stood up in the ruck, Joel Cross kept winning clearances and Andy Otten kept the backline composed.

Michael Wundke – well held by Tom Edwards to that point – kicked five goals, while Liddle still managed to have a hand in two majors.

"They were galvanised through having a lack of numbers," Glenelg coach Kris Massie said. "You could see in the last 10 minutes they were really hungry and hard at it and we weren't."
